FREEDOM

Granted Irish Prisoners Held in Connection With Easter Revolt.

Were Given a Great Welcome Upon Their Arrival in Dublin.

Bonar Law's Announcement in Commons Received With Cheers.

RELEASE WITHOUT RESERVATION

Large crowds gathered in Dublin Monday morning to welcome the released Irish prisoners, all of whom, with the exception of Countess Markievicz, arrived at 8 o'clock. Men with banners escorted the former prisoners to their homes. There was much singing of Irish songs and a great deal of cheering, but there were no signs of disorder.

In the House of Commons on Monday Chancellor Bonar Law was asked whether the prisoners had been released on condition that the Sinn Fein party should participate in the forthcoming Irish convention. He replied that the prisoners had been freed unconditionally. The Chancellor added that the Sinn Fein movement in Ireland was not organized, as far as he was aware, in such a way that any person or persons could speak authoritatively for those engaged in it, and that the Government did not think that the holding of the convention could be dependent upon the assent or dissent of individual Irishmen.

All the prisoners taken in the Irish rebellion of Easter Sunday, 1916, will be released without reservation. This announcement was made in the House of Commons by Andrew Bonar Law, who said that the Government felt that by so doing it would aid in the success of the approaching Irish convention, which, the Government hoped, would effect a reconciliation among Irish political parties.

The Government has given long and anxious consideration to the position of Irish political prisoners and has arrived at the decision it now is my duty to announce. The Government is not, in giving careful consideration to the approaching session of the convention, in which Irishmen themselves will meet to settle the difficult problem of the future administration of their country, that this great experiment will mark a new era in the relations between Ireland, the United Kingdom and the Empire. It is therefore desirable beyond measure that the convention should meet in an atmosphere of harmony and good will, in which all parties can unreservedly join. It is, however, more regrettable than that the work of the convention should be prejudiced at the outset by embittered associations which might even hinder the settlement to which all look forward with hope.

In these circumstances the Government has decided it can not give better earnest of the spirit in which it approaches the convention than by removing one of the main causes of the serious misunderstanding of this subject with which it is in their power to do so. It has decided therefore upon the release without reservation of all prisoners now in confinement in connection with the recent rebellion in Ireland. They have not, however, arrived at this decision without careful consideration of two aspects of the case which it is impossible to ignore. They have satisfied themselves, first, that public security would not be endangered by such an act of grace, and second, that in none of the cases concerned was participation in the rebellion accompanied by individual acts which would render such a display of clemency impossible.

"In recommending to the King grants of general amnesty to the persons in question, the Government has been inspired by the sanguine hope that their action will be welcomed in a spirit of magnanimity and that the convention will enter upon its arduous undertaking in circumstances that will constitute a good augury for the reconciliation which is the desire of all parties in every part of the United Kingdom and the British Empire."

Mr. Bonar Law's announcement was received with general cheers. Joseph Devlin expressed his gratitude at the decision of the Government, but thought they had been advised to come to a decision earlier they would have avoided much irritation and created at a much earlier period the spirit of reconciliation and good temper which they hoped would prevail in the future.

AUTOMOBILIST BROTHERHOOD.

The Kentucky Irish American this week received a letter from the Abbe Paviot, of Bourges, France, asking this paper to make known to Americans that a brotherhood of St. Christopher, patron saint of automobilists, has been founded by the Archbishop of Bourges (Cher), France. Its purpose is to pray for the members, and more particularly for military automobilists and aviators who risk their lives or fall victims to duty. Next it will erect a commemorative church in co-operation with the Allies in the center of France, where prayers will be said in perpetuity for the souls of our heroes. Further particulars may be obtained by applying to the Abbe Paviot, Director, Bourges (Cher), France.

BISHOP J. A. M'FAUL.

The hierarchy and Catholics throughout the country were deeply grieved when they learned that the Right Rev. James A. McFaul, Bishop of the Trenton diocese for nearly a quarter of a century, had succumbed to a complication of diseases Saturday afternoon at Trenton, N. J. Bishop McFaul had been in ill health for more than a year, but it was only about a week before that his condition became acute. On Thursday he took a turn for the worse and thereafter gradually became weaker until he lapsed into unconsciousness several hours before his death. The tolling of the bell of St. Mary's Cathedral announced his death.

Bishop McFaul was born in Ireland in 1850. He came to this country with his parents when a child, and the family settled on a small farm near Bound Brook, N. J. He started life as clerk in a grocery store in Bound Brook, but saved sufficient money to provide a liberal education. It was his ambition to become a lawyer. In 1868 he became a student at St. Vincent's College, Westmoreland, Penn. Later he decided to become a Benedictine monk, but abandoned the idea. He completed his classical education at St. Francis Xavier's College in New York, under the tuition of the Jesuits. His first ministerial work was at Seton Hall College after he was ordained by Archbishop Corrigan, of Newark. His first appointment was in St. Patrick's church, Jersey City. From there he went to the Cathedral in Newark, and in 1878 he became assistant priest in St. Mary's Cathedral, Trenton. In 1883 he was assigned to the pastorate at Long Branch, but returned to Trenton in 1890, and the late Bishop O'Farrell made him rector of the Cathedral and Chancellor of the diocese. He was subsequently made Vicar General and in 1894 he became Bishop.

In April, 1913, Bishop McFaul started his congregation when he selected his grave at Lawrenceville, N. J., and ordered a tombstone placed on the site. During a visit to the Home for Aged Women at that place Bishop McFaul stopped before Morris Hall and said: "Here is where I want to be buried." Later he ordered Dennis Dooley, marble cutter, to carve him a Celtic cross tombstone and see that it was placed on his grave. His funeral was one of the largest and most impressive ever witnessed in New Jersey, and the church could accommodate only a small fraction of the thousands who assembled as a mark of respect for his memory.

HELP FROM CATHOLIC THEOLOGY

The latest number of the American Journal of Sociology, a magazine numbering among its contributors the most eminent of American sociologists, brings an interesting article from the pen of James Harrington Boyd entitled "Socialization of the Law." "The great master students," says Boyd, "in the development of the principles of jurisprudence of modern civilization were Friedrich Carl von Savigny, Bernard Windscheid and Rudolph von Jhering." Of the latter we are told: "Dr. Rudolph von Jhering died in Goettingen in the fall of 1892. Jhering was at the time of his death the most profound student of law that the world has known." The author then goes on to review in some detail the various published works of the learned scholar. Particular mention is made of his work entitled "Purpose in Law."

In connection with the latter work it can not but be of genuine interest to point to a very telling but little known fact. In an issue of the Literarischer Handweiser, or Literary Guide, Rev. Wilhelm Hohoff, a priest well known for his writings on historical and sociological topics, reviewed the first edition of Dr. Jhering's work in question. In this review he points to the fact that the fundamental principles embodied in Jhering's work were already very clearly stated in the writings of St. Thomas of Aquin. Jhering hereupon wrote in the second edition of "Purpose in Law" the following words so remarkable and so instructive: "He proves to me by quotations that this great mind has fully and correctly grasped the realistic practical and social factor, the historical as well as the ethical. The ignorance with which he reproaches me I can not deny; but with a much greater weight of reproach he hits the modern philosophers and Protestant theologians, who have neglected to utilize the magnificent thoughts of this man. I ask myself in astonishment: How was it possible that such truths, once uttered, could fall so completely into oblivion among our Protestant men of learning? What errors might have been avoided if they had known how to take them to heart. As for myself

I might never have written my book had I known them, for the fundamental thoughts are to be found in full clarity and in most pregnant form in the writings of this mighty thinker."

Jhering closes with the remark that: "If my present book is to be a success it must work to this purpose that Protestant science must avail itself of the help which it can obtain through Catholic theology; those who allow the instruction, which they can obtain from their adversaries to go unnoticed, only harm themselves."

Surely these noble words of the learned Goettingen scholar have a very significant message, especially for those of our American sociologists who, it would seem, consider themselves called to originate and propagate whatever is worth while in social science.

ORPHANS' PICNIC.

The largest and most enthusiastic meeting of the Catholic Orphan Society yet held took place Monday night at Knights of Columbus Home. Eighteen of the twenty-four parishes in the city were represented and letters were read from some of the pastors of the sixty parishes outside of the city promising or sending aid. An interesting feature of the meeting was the announcement that Independence day at St. Vincent's Orphanage will be observed in a patriotic way. There will be a flag raising and one of the orphan boys will read the declaration of Independence. Charles O'Connor, Chairman of the committee on grounds, said that the grounds were being placed in fine shape and there will be ample room for the many thousands who are expected to attend. Tickets of admission have been left at the rectories of all of the parishes, so that entrance tickets may be bought now, in order to avoid the rush at the gate. Chairman McDonogh said he had sent books to each of the parish priests outside the city and was receiving encouraging returns. These books contain chances on the $1,000 lot donated by Bishop O'Donoghue, and is a convenient way of aiding the orphans outside the city. Mr. McDonogh also reported that he had received many voluntary donations from non-Catholics and letters of sympathy with a substantial enclosure. Many of the candidates sent $5 each to help the fund. Altogether the meeting was the best yet held. There will be another next Monday night at the same place, and as the Fourth is now near at hand Chairman Murphy urges that all of the congregations be represented. This, he says, is not a parish picnic, but one in which all of the congregations are expected to do their part.

DEMOCRATIC OUTING.

The Social Democratic Club, composed of Fourth and Fifth ward Democrats, will have their annual outing at Klondike Camp tomorrow and all of the local leaders and candidates will be guests of the club. The Fern Creek cars leave the Interurban Station every thirty minutes. The Committee of Arrangements are John J. Barry, Al Rosenberg, Joe Byrne, Ben Schuman, W. M. Dennis, T. J. Garvey, John Riehlman, Joe Koehler, Jerome King, George Lloyd, Neal Punk, L. Karem and Dr. Nelson.

POLITICAL

Bryan For Haly-Beckham Campaign.

Against Gov. Stanley and Friends.

Brumleve and Louisville Herald
Playing Spider and Fly Role.

NEW CANDIDATES IN THE FIELD

The Haly-Beckham prohibitionist politicians have announced the opening of their campaign for control in Kentucky. The first announcement is that William Grape Juice Bryan will speak in Louisville on July 4 under the auspices of the Democratic Forward League, which body seeks to become the ruling power in Kentucky Democracy with the prohibition issue as the leverage of control. Coincident with the announcement of Bryan's coming Col. Pat Callahan comes out in a broadside against Gov. Stanley, criticizing an address of the Governor's which he delivered at Lexington on St. Patrick's day, and furthermore goes a long way to have it published, the criticism referred to being published in a little prohibition pamphlet published in North Evans, Erie county, New York. As all remember, Gov. Stanley's St. Patrick's day address was an awful record of the hypocritical and newly-made prohibitionists, and that it stung there is no doubt when it was necessary to go all the way to New York in an attempt to get even with the Governor. One sentence of the crude criticism of Stanley reads thus: "Perhaps the Governor's thirst at the dry banquet so vividly projected his gloomy plight in a dry Kentucky that he mentally said: GIVE ME DRINK OR GIVE ME DEATH."

Callahan's little prohibition organ also contains the same old tirade against the policies of the Kentucky Irish American, which as everyone knows is an object of the colonel's hatred for several causes. One because this paper as a Democrat could not see its way clear in supporting him for Congress in preference to Swager Sherry. Another because this paper opposed the Colonel's policy of mingling with the Junior Order, a strictly anti-Catholic society, and in common with the bulk of Catholics in this city was opposed to his lecturing at the Junior Order hall as a representative Catholic. Another and chief reason was that this paper was opposed to Col. Patrick's stepping into the inner councils of the Democratic chamber through the Haly-Beckham door when it is considered that just four years ago Callahan bitterly fought the local Democratic ticket headed by Mayor Bauchmeyer, then espousing the cause of Axton, the Bull Moose nominee, and used Hunter Ross, then in his employ, to subvert the Democratic ship. Later on Ross and Callahan fell out and Ross obtained quite a sum of money in a suit compromise, and those who know say the charges made by Ross in his suit were sizzlers. But after all the prospective United States Senator to succeed Ollie James achieved his purpose, as in the same pamphlet his picture is printed with this phrase, "His business beautifies his homes and protects them from the inclemencies of the weather."

The prevailing topic in Democratic circles this week was the foolish campaign being waged by Brumleve for Mayor, many of his conservative supporters becoming disgusted with his mud-slinging and nuck-raking policies, and men who may have voted for him are now his worst critics. They say that at present he is only working up possible campaign material for the week, among them being Francis Schuster for County Assessor, Ed Early for Police Court Clerk, Owen Mann for Tax Receiver, John S. Pfanz for Jailor, and Shiloh Hollis for Country Clerk. The race for Sheriff still continues to be the absorbing topic and it is rumored that the Haly-Beckham candidate's backers have been forced to drop some of the present Deputy Sheriffs from the list of favored ones and pick outsiders to bolster his waning fortunes. Recognizing that Senator Robertson would be the strongest asset as a campaigner and worker for the November ticket many city and county employees have declared themselves in favor of taking the Robertson cause, while other candidates say likewise.

MACKIN COUNCIL.

Mackin Council had a largely attended and lively meeting Monday night, when reports were received that everything was in readiness for the first moonlight ride of the season on next Friday night and that plans for the annual picnic will be under way. Rev. Father Francis Felten and Grand President Robert T. Burke were present and created much interest in their talks about the care and attention that must be given to the Catholic young men who will be stationed at the local cantonment. The special order of business for the meeting Monday night will be the election of delegates to the Grand Council convention which will be held the coming month. A very enjoyable evening for the members has been arranged by the Entertainment Committee and another large attendance is looked for.

THE TENDENCY TOWARDS DANGER

What is the duty of the citizen or subject when his government is actually engaged in war? We may answer in general terms that when a nation declares war the war is a law of the land and binds the subject to the same extent and for the same reason as any other law of the land. The whole question is simply a question of the obligation of the citizen to obey the law. So far as the subject is bound to obey the law, so far he is bound to render all the aid in prosecuting the war the government commands him to render and in the form in which it commands it.

If the government leaves it optional with the citizen whether to take an active part in the war or not, he is unquestionably bound to remain passive if he believes the war to be unjust. But the subject, though entertaining doubts about the justice of a given war in its incipient stages, believing his government too hasty in its proceedings, and not so forbearing as it might and should have been, yet after the war has been declared, after his country is involved in it, can retreat only by suffering grievous wrongs, and seeks now to advance only for the purpose of securing a just and lasting peace may, no doubt, even volunteer his active services, if he honestly believes them to be necessary, for the war now has changed its original character, has ceased to be aggressive and becomes defensive and just. In such a case love of country and the general duty of each citizen to defend his country, to preserve its freedom and independence, overrides the scruples he felt with regard to the war in its incipient stages, and enables him to take part in it with a safe conscience. But, however this may be, it is clear that when the government has actually declared war, and actually commands the services of the subject, he is bound in conscience, whatever may be his private convictions of the justice of the war, to render them on the ground that he is bound in conscience to obey the law. If he takes part in obedience to the command of the government he takes part, even though his private conviction is against the war, with a good conscience; because the motive from which he acts is not to prosecute a war he does not regard as just, but to obey his sovereign, which he is not at liberty not to do, and which he must do for conscience's sake.

Our great danger lies in the radical tendency which has become so wide, deep and active in the American people. We have to a great extent ceased to regard anything as sacred or venerable, and we burn that is old; war against what is old, and labor to set all religious, domestic and social institutions afloat on the wild and tumultuous sea of speculation and experiment. Nothing has hitherto gone right; nothing has been achieved that is worth retaining, and man and Providence have thus far done nothing but commit one continued series of blunders. All things are to be reconstructed; the world is to be recast, and by our own wisdom and strength. We must borrow no light from the past, adopt none of its maxims, and take no data from its experience.

There is much to strengthen this radical tendency. Political aspirants, reckless of principle and greedy of place, and to it as their most facile means of success; and the mass of the people, finding their passions flattered and their prejudices undisturbed, are thrown off their guard, presume all is right, and cherish unconsciously the enemy that is to destroy them. A factitious public opinion grows up, becomes supreme, to which whoever wishes for some consideration in the community in which he lives must offer incense, and which he must presume on no occasion to contradict. The majority of the people indeed may not be represented by this opinion—but it is true, not approve it—but they are isolated one from another, minding each their own affairs, and ignorant of their numbers and strength; while the few, by their union, mutual acquaintance, concert and clamor, are able to silence any single voice not raised in adulation of their idol. Political parties conspire to the same end. One party today, ambitious of success, courts this factitious public opinion as a useful auxiliary and succeeds; the other must do so tomorrow or abandon all hopes of succeeding. Then follows a strife of parties, which shall bid highest and out-radical the other. With such a tendency, wide and deep, strong and active, we can not but apprehend the most serious danger. With it there can be no permanent institutions, no government, no society, no virtue, no well-being.

BETTER INVESTMENT.

Many of the clergy and members of the Knights of Columbus are on record in favor of discontinuing the services of the much advertised $50,000 Religious Prejudice Commission and wisely say that the same amount of money invested in the work of the Catholic Church Extension Society would have produced marvelous and incalculable results. The Extension Society's work in establishing churches and building up congregations in the country districts does more to allay prejudice than a chain system of flowery letters.

NO SURPRISE.

Tom Watson, editor of the Jeffersonian and Georgia's leading bigot, who has been denouncing the Catholic church and its followers for years as being a menace to America, is now being investigated by the Federal authorities for his attacks on conscription, and one of the Georgian papers classes him as a prototype of Benedict Arnold. Watson's treacherous conduct is no surprise, as his pseudo patriotism is a guise for religious prejudice.

JAPAN KICKS.

Japan has taken offense because our Government addressed a note to China expressing regret over the dissensions in that country. It seems that the Japanese regard China as their own peculiar charge and they resent any outside interference. One reason why Japan has not taken an active part in the war is that it has its own interests to look after in the Orient. It is likely that China will be completely under the control of Japan within the next five years. While European nations have been slaughtering each other the little brown men of Nippon have been preparing the way for their control of Asia. Perhaps they will be content with that. We hope so.

PASSED THE CENSOR.

Gen. Pershing and his staff officers landed in France last week, according to press dispatches. How this information passes the censor is more than we can fathom. Of course the transfer of troops to Europe will not be heralded broadcast. To do so would be to expose them unnecessarily to the dangers of the sea. Soon, however, we shall hear rumors that whole regiments have suddenly disappeared. That is all the information we shall receive until the casualty lists begin to come back. Such is modern war.

SERIOUS MISTAKE.

Our military authorities have made a serious mistake in lowering the quota of Catholic chaplains for the army. Instead of getting fifty-seven out of the 144 regular army chaplains the Catholic church is offered only thirty-four. The same proportion is maintained in the "new army." And this notwithstanding the fact that their quota, verified by the statistics of the Federal Council, is approximately 38 per cent. If the Catholic boys are expected to go to the front and fight effectively and give their lives for our country the least they can expect of those in authority is that they be furnished with those spiritual consolations their faith alone can give, both on the field and in the trenches.

NOTE THIS.

It is worthy of note that those who have translated the President's note to Russia into the terms and national readjustments that will be acceptable to the President as the price of peace, have not mentioned Ireland, Belgium, Poland, Serbia and Armenia as to have their national status restored, which is only just, but Ireland is apparently to be cast into the exterior darkness, that is if the interpreters of the note are giving to it the President's meaning. We have said, and we repeat it, that the entrance of the United States into the war on the side of England would not serve the Irish cause, because the United States would do nothing that may embarrass her ally. Now if those gentlemen who have applied the terms of the note to what to them appeared to be the only possible outcome of the war, express the President's mind on the matter, then Ireland has nothing to hope for from America, and the high principles to which he gave utterance will become as far as she is concerned but sounding brass and tinkling cymbals—a mockery of the music to which struggling democracy times its onward march. We sincerely hope the President's acts will belie the conclusions of the interpreters of the note, otherwise the President and the American people may, like the great Napoleon, have cause to regret that they did not strike the chains from Ireland's limbs and thus cripple for all time the power for evil of the most insidious and implacable enemy of true liberty and true democracy.

MORAL COMPENSATIONS.

War is always a national calamity. It means destruction of all that men have labored long to build; it means hardships and suffering for those who must remain at home, and it means conflict and blood and perhaps death for those who are called into active service. The True Voice truly says any man who would deliberately seek to bring such an evil on his country must be counted a public enemy. Yet war, like other calamities, comes upon us whether we want it or not. We may pray for peace and refuse to listen to the warnings of impending danger. That will not defer or prevent the calamity.

We are now engaged in a war that is not of our choosing. We would gladly have avoided it if we could have preserved peace with honor. But we were forced into war to defend our rights. We were compelled to choose the calamity of war in order to avoid a worse calamity—national dishonor. Now that we are face to face with the problems not of impending war but of actual war, it is well for us to realize how serious a thing war is. We have been living in a fool's paradise of pacifist dreams for a dozen years or more. During that time we have given free reign to indulgence and pleasure. We have taken up fads and nursed them under the delusion that we were making progress. We were rapidly becoming a nation of religious triflers, pleasure mad, and morally spineless.

Now we are called back to fundamental truths. War brings us to a sudden halt in our pursuit of pleasure. It sobers the nation as well as individuals. Serious work is before us. Dilettantism has no place in the programme of war. Moral dangers there are that always accompany the march of armies as well as the physical dangers of the conflict. Of the two, the moral dangers are the more to be feared. But these can be guarded against to a large extent by a proper care for the soldier in the camps. That the work which is now being undertaken will safeguard the morals of the soldier in the present war we have every reason to believe. The nation will be tried as it has not been tried since the civil war. We hope that the ordeal will have a purifying effect and that the physical calamity of war will be compensated for by moral gains. We have needed something to bring us back to a sober estimate of moral values. War alone can do it.

Col. P. J. Hanlon and his Advisory Committee deserve praise for their work for the Red Cross fund. The people of Louisville responded generously, thus showing appreciation of the busy men who gave both time and money to this patriotic service.

Articles of eight more coal mining corporations have been approved by Secretary of State Lewis. There should soon be a reduction in the exorbitant price charged for coal or else the Government must be forced to intervene in the interest of the people.

By the death of Right Rev. Bishop McPaul, the Catholic church in this country suffers a distinct loss and New Jersey one of its foremost citizens. And the Ancient Order of Hibernians have lost their staunchest and best friend.

Congratulations are tendered the Little Rock Guardian for the excellence of its Bishop Morris silver jubilee issue.

The man who has done his best has not failed.

PEOPLE ELATED.

Because of the unanimous request of the clergy of the Rockford diocese the Right Rev. P. J. Muldoon will not be transferred to Los Angeles as formerly announced. TRIBUTE TO BISHOP.

The following tribute by Thomas Walsh, of the Louisville bar, to Bishop Morris, of Little Rock, on the occasion of his silver jubilee, appeared in the last issue of the Southern Guardian:
Hail, prince of peace, ambassador of heaven,
Anointed and enthroned by the Most High
To be our shepherd here from dawn till even,
To ward and guide us to eternity
And everlasting mansions in the sky;
We wish thee happiness and length of days,
And many joys in this thy jubilee.
We pledge thee our devotion, love and praise,
And henceforth we shall walk with gladness in thy ways.
And when the sunset of thy life shall come
We hope 'twill be most beautiful and bright,
Such as befits thy happy journey home
To Christ's celestial kingdom of delight
Beyond the boundaries of death and night.
And there thy spirit shall find rest, sweet rest,
And glory and dominion in his sight,
Forever and forever with the blest,
Beyond the crimson gates of sunset in the west.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Hackett, their daughter, Miss Janet Hackett, and son, Robert Hackett, were at Ferdinand, Ind., to attend the commencement at Ferdinand Academy, from which Miss Dorothy Hackett was graduated.

Miss Theresa B. Schaefer and Oscar Rouch, popular and well known in New Albany Catholic society circles, were married Wednesday morning by the Rev. Dean Curran at Holy Trinity church, in the presence of a large gathering of friends and relatives.

SISTERS OF CHARITY.
The Kentucky Irish American acknowledges receipt of a copy of the "Sisters of Charity of Nazareth" from the pen of Miss Anna Blanche McGill and just off the Encyclopedia Press. The introduction is by Cardinal Gibbons, who well says the volume makes a most interesting and readable story. The author is in deep sympathy with her subject and has contributed to our Catholic literature a volume which all may read with profit—a record that will prove especially edifying to the young members of the society, as well as an inspiration to them in following the footsteps of those who under difficulties and privations laid the foundation stones of one of the most prosperous and beneficent institutions of our land. The book can be secured from the Rogers Church Goods Company, this city.

ST. HELEN'S.
Rev. John B. Peifer, the zealous and beloved pastor of St. Helen's church, will on next Thursday, the feast of the Apostles Peter and Paul, celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood. Father Peifer was ordained by the Right Rev. A. J. Glorieux, Bishop of the Boise diocese, at Louvain, Belgium, on the feast of St. Peter and Paul, 1892. Coming to the Louisville diocese he was for two years assistant at St. Vincent de Paul church, Louisville, then for three years pastor of All Saints' church at Taylorsville, and for almost twenty years pastor of St. Helen's church here. He also had charge all these last years of the City Alma House and attended the patients of the Pest House. For obvious reasons Father Peifer has decided to observe the anniversary privately with his devoted congregation, who helped him to build and finish his beautiful church. The solemn and festive day will be marked by high mass of thanksgiving at 8:30 o'clock, at which service the church choir will sing under the direction of George F. Middendorf and Miss Sarah McConathy, as organist. On Saturday morning there will be solemn mass for all whom Father Peifer assisted at their death-bed.

The past year has been a very successful one for the school, from all points of view, and teachers and children are to be congratulated both for the earnest, sincere work of the former, and the response made by the latter. A second conference of the executives of Catholic young men's societies was held in St. Louis last week with reference to the unification of these societies, to be known as the Catholic Young Men's Association. The aim of the association is to supply a national and unified body of Catholic young men to promote the material, intellectual, spiritual, moral and social welfare of the Catholic young men of the United States, first, by bringing to them opportunities for self-development and co-operation; second, by utilizing every available resource of the community for their interest; third, by offering itself to be used by the community and by the hierarchy and clergy in co-operative service of our young men, and fourth, by promoting co-operation and mutual helpfulness upon the part of the Catholic young men themselves. The association will enlist the membership of existing societies without interfering with or curtailing their special activities. At this meeting plans were developed for the active co-operation of Catholic societies in the welfare of Catholic young men in the army. A temporary organization was formed by the election of an executive board as follows: Michael J. Slattery, President Catholic Young Men's National Union; Anthony Schwann, Grand President Pacific Jurisdiction, Young Men's Institute; Robert T. Burke, Grand President Atlantic Jurisdiction, Young Men's Institute; James H. Zipt, President Gonzaga Union; Casper J. Lingemann, President Young Men's Order, Rev. Edward F. Garesche was chosen as temporary Moderator of the board. This will be the last conference to be held until after the conventions of the various societies during the coming summer.

NEW ALBANY.

Monday evening Joseph Schmitt and Miss Della Murray, who are well known residents of New Albany, were quietly wedded at the rectory of St. Mary's church, the Rev. Father Seibert performing the ceremony.

A wedding of much interest and beautiful in its details took place in Holy Trinity church, New Albany, Tuesday morning, when Miss Ella Bezy became the bride of William Schmidt. Rev. Charles Curran performed the ceremony and celebrated the nuptial high mass. Misses Bertha Missel and Alma Schmidt were the bridesmaids, and Leo Bezy and Charles Schmidt acted as ushers. Following the ceremony a wedding dinner and reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Bezy. After July 1 the happy couple will be at home at 1139 Beeler street, New Albany.

HAPPILY WEDDED.

One of the happiest of the June weddings was solemnized Thursday afternoon at St. Mary Magdalene church, when Charles A. Green led to the altar Miss Eileen Neighbors, the accomplished and popular daughter of Mrs. Nellie Neighbors, 219 East St. Catherine street, the Rev. Father William Gausepohl performing the marriage ceremony. Miss Bessie Hersman was the maid of honor and Miss Catherine Barksdale and Esther Monchon were the bridesmaids. The ushers were Dr. Forrest Hendershot and Walter Teichling. Following the church wedding there was a brilliant reception for the bridal party at the home of the bride's mother, when the happy pair were showered with congratulations.

FAIRFIELD.

The Rev. Dominick Downs, O. S. B., will celebrate his first high mass tomorrow morning in St. Michael's church at Fairfield, in the presence of many friends and relatives. Father Dominick is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Wickham, of Fairfield, who are well up in years, but who nevertheless rejoice in the ordination of one of their grandchildren. They had eight sons and three daughters, and this is the first priest among them. Father Dominick's ordination took place at St. Bernard's Abbey, Cullman county, Alabama.

BETHLEHEM.

The dress of the people around Bethlehem is much the same as it was in the time of our Lord. The women are dressed as the Blessed Virgin is in the pictures which represent her; not only the fashion of the garments, but the coloring is the same—blue gown and red cloak, and a white veil over all.

RECENT DEATHS.

Monday morning the funeral of Mrs. Lorena Elgelbach, beloved wife of Adam Elgelbach, 720 East St. Catherine street, was held from St. Vincent de Paul's church, where she had been always a regular and devout communicant. Besides her husband she leaves two children, for whom is felt sincerest sympathy.

Death came Sunday afternoon into the home of Harry Kerr, 725 West St. Catherine street, and took the soul of his beloved and faithful wife, Bridget Reynolds Kerr. Mrs. Kerr was a devout member of St. Louis Bertrand's church, where her funeral requiem was sung Wednesday morning. She was sixty-four years old and besides her husband leaves seven children.

Michael D. Curran, aged thirty-one and a well known painter, passed peacefully away Saturday night at the home of his father, Charles Curran, 1002 Dumesnil street. Several weeks ago he was stricken with an attack of stomach trouble that would not yield to tender care and treatment. His funeral was held Monday morning from St. Louis Bertrand's church, attended by many mourning friends.

Thomas McGough, for many years a respected citizen of the West End, died Monday afternoon at his home, 402 North Twenty-first street. Two months ago he was stricken, and fortified by the last sacraments he resignedly awaited God's call. Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Mary McGough, James McGough, two daughters, Misses Mary and Margaret McGough, and two sisters. The funeral was held Wednesday morning from St. Cecilia's church, of which deceased had been a faithful member.

To William F. Schad and his two sons, Wallace and Audran Schad, the sympathy of St. Columba's parish and people is extended on the death of their beloved wife and mother, Margaret Mary Schad, who passed into eternal rest Tuesday morning at her home, 253 South Western Parkway. She was the daughter of John Craig, of Jeffersonville, besides whom she leaves two sisters. Her funeral was held Thursday morning, Father Maloney celebrating the requiem mass and preaching a sermon full of consolation for the bereaved family and relatives.

The sad and untimely death of Anselm J. Clemens, the seventeen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Clemens, 2208 West Market street, gave much regret to his relatives and many friends. His illness extended over several months and was borne with Christian resignation and fortitude, strengthened by the sacraments of holy religion. Besides his parents, he is survived by two brothers, Mathias A. and Joseph C. Clemens, and one sister, Mrs. P. J. Garland, of Pittsburgh. The funeral takes place this morning from St. Anthony's church.

ORDAINED SATURDAY.

Last Saturday morning the Right Rev. Bishop Brossart, of Covington, ordained for the priesthood in St. Mary's Cathedral the Rev. John McCrystal. His Lordship was assisted by Very Rev. Joseph A. Flynn, V. G.; Rev. Herbert Hillenmeyer, Chancellor; Revs. Edmund Cecy and Alfred Hannan, and a number of other priests of the diocese. Father Flynn was assistant priest and Father Hillenmeyer notary. Father McCrystal has just completed his studies at Mt. St. Mary Seminary, Ellenora, Ohio, and received deaconship in St. Peter Cathedral at Cincinnati on June 2. He will sing his first solemn mass in his home parish, St. Paul's, at Lexington, on Sunday, June 24.

HONORS FATHER KELLEY.

Mrs. Francis C. Kelley, who with the late Archbishop Quigley founded the Catholic Church Extension Society in 1905, has again been named head of the society. Word of the appointment reached Chicago from Rome last week. The Extension Society was established canonically by Pope Pius X. in 1910, and Msgr. Kelley, already its President, was named for another five-year term. Msgr. Kelley also is founder and editor of the Extension Magazine.

INTENDS TO PROTEST.

The Associated Press telegraphs from Rome that the Prussian and Bavarian legations accredited to the Vatican announce that the Pope intends to protest continually through diplomatic channels against a resumption of the Belgian deportations. The protest, it is said, will be made on the basis of reports reaching the Vatican recently from a Belgian Bishop.

BLUECOATS' VACATION.

Lieut. Pat Mullen and Patrolman Edward Bickel, of the local police department, went to West Baden Springs yesterday, where they will spend their annual vacation of ten days.

HONOR FOR RAIDY.

Charles F. Raidy, one of the most popular and efficient men in the Government service, was elected President of the Association of Supervisory Postoffice Employees of Louisville, a branch of the national association, at the annual meeting last Sunday. President Raidy is Assistant Superintendent of Mails at the Louisville Postoffice, and figures prominently in affairs of the national body. G. E. Lunsing, foreman of the city delivery division, was elected Vice President; George W. Yost, Superintendent of Postoffice Station L, Secretary, and Herbert Jessell, Superintendent of second class mail, Treasurer. The Louisville branch of the association is one of the most important in the national organization, as this city is the national headquarters. The national convention was held here last fall.

President Raidy and Secretary Yost were elected delegates to the next annual convention, which will be held next fall either at Cleveland or Washington.

PRIDE GOETH, ETC.

Last Sunday's gospel in reference to those who exalt themselves and the old adage of pride goeth before a fall was fully exemplified in the case of one of our prominent Democrats, who is a candidate for Balliff of the Police Court. In a gathering of his friends and supporters Sunday night he was the recipient of many flattering reports and personal compliments, for which he could hardly blame him for feeling a little chesty or exalted as the Scripture puts it. But alas and alack! On his way home he decided to drop in and see a friend on West Oak street, but being a little unfamiliar with the entrance fumbled around looking for the gate latch and frightened a little boy, who ran in the house and told his parents. Because of the fact that a man had been acting strangely in the neighborhood a few nights previous our candidate's friends, who are a leading musician, hastily jumped at conclusions and in no musical tone ran out and exclaimed hastily, "Get away from here, you ornery drunken bum." Here the curtain falls.

WITH THE SICK.

Frank O'Connor, of the Courier-Journal, who underwent an operation at St. Anthony's Hospital, is now convalescing, and his friends will be glad to know that it will be only a short time until he is again able to be with them.

Dr. A. R. Bizot, who returned last week from Mudavia, is steadily improving at his home on West Broadway, and it seems almost certain that he will be able to resume his practice before the end of the month.

FATHER HERBERT'S JUBILEE.

The Rev. Louis Herbert, of St. Martin's church at Rome, Davies county, will have been a Catholic priest twenty-five years this month, and the occasion will be appropriately observed on June 27 at Rome. Invitations to the celebration have been accepted by some of the local clergy.

AGED PRIEST DIES.

News reached New Albany Monday of the death at Newcastle of the Rev. Father Edward Spelman, pastor of St. Ann's church in that city, who was reared in New Albany, where he was widely known. The Rev. Father Spelman had been in poor health for a year or more, and for the past few weeks his condition had been serious. Father Spelman was sixty-six years old and was a native of Cincinnati, but he came with his parents in early boyhood to New Albany. His father, the late John Spelman, was Recorder of Floyd county many years ago, and his brother, the late Frank Spelman, who also was County Recorder, died two years ago while in office. The Rev. Father Spelman is the last survivor of his family. He was ordained to the priesthood by Bishop de St. Pallas at Holy Trinity church in New Albany, April 3, 1873. His father died a few days later and he read his first mass at his father's funeral. Later he was made assistant priest at St. John's church in Indianapolis, and he also has held pastorates at Brownsburg, Rushville and Cambridge City. In 1905 he was transferred to St. Ann's church in New Albany. The funeral services were held at Newcastle Wednesday morning, with burial in the cemetery there.

Park this season. Never in its history has the park boasted the number of attractions it now does and with those added from time to time the park is daily making new patrons. Two of the most pleasing innovations this season are found in the refined cabaret and in the restaurant. Five entertainers are heard in the latest of popular and ragtime selections and the numbers are all warmly applauded. The vaudeville theater gives evidence of having another banner bill for next week.

LARGEST IN HISTORY.

St. Xavier's College graduated this week the largest class in its history, numbering forty-two bright young men. Bishop O'Donoghue and Very Rev. T. L. Crowley delivered addresses of advice and encouragement to the graduates and praise for the work of the college, the auditorium being overcrowded with a pleased audience each night. Patriotic addresses, songs and musical numbers were features of the exercises, when orations touching on topics of vital interest to the public at this time were delivered by six of the graduates. The Frank A. Geher gold medal was presented to Henry A. Bauer whose topic was "Our Flag and Unrestricted Immigration." The judges of the contest were Eugene Cooney, William G. Hume and William L. Birkel. Those competing for the medal besides Bauer were Robert S. Parsons, Robert J. Selbert, Raymond J. Stark, Philip S. Dant and Richard L. Schuhmann. Francis J. Dougherty, representing the alumni, presented to Richard L. Schuhmann the medal for excellence. Other medals were given by Bishop O'Donoghue and Father Crowley to the following: John H. Sils, Edward L. Kleier, Alfred B. Brand, John T. Walsh, James L. McDougall, Thomas I. Lynch, Herman G. Guenther, Henry A. Moorkamp, Henry J. Gamber, Robert J. Watson, Henry J. Willenbrink, Roy C. FATHER MARTIN'S FIRST MASS.

Rev. Francis J. Martin, who was ordained priest by Bishop O'Donoghue on Tuesday morning, will celebrate his first solemn mass tomorrow morning at St. John's church, Clay and Walnut, at 10 o'clock. The Rev. John D. Fallon, assistant at St. Cecilia's, will be the deacon, and Rev. Daniel A. Driscoll, secretary to the Right Rev. Bishop, the sub-deacon. The following priests, all of whom, as well as the officers of the mass, are St. John's boys, will be present in the sanctuary: Revs. Michael Melody, John D. Kalaher, John T. Hill and Francis A. O'Connor. The Rev. George A. Gorry, professor of homiletics at St. Mary's Seminary, Cincinnati, will deliver the sermon. After the mass the Rev. Dr. Schuhmann, pastor of St. John's, will give a dinner to the attending clergy in honor of the new priest. Father Martin is the twelfth son of St. John's parish to be raised to the priesthood. The fruitfulness of priestly vocations in this parish has always been a matter of favorable comment, as with Father Martin there will be no less than nine from St. John's actively engaged in priestly work for this diocese, a credit to the old parish.

AWARDED TUESDAY.

The Baker electric auto, for which the Sisters of the Good Shepherd, Eighth street, have been sending out chance books, will be awarded next Tuesday. This affair has excited quite a lot of interest and people throughout the State have sent in requests for books. In a number of cases people have sent in remittances but failed to send their stubs, and the Sisters are anxious that they attend to the matter at once so that they will have an opportunity to try for the electric. They also ask those to whom books have been sent to consider this opportunity and take advantage of it by buying the tickets. The Sisters will be pleased to show the car to any one calling at the convent.

COMBINATION AWARDS.

The announcement of the combination book awards of the lawn fete given by the St. Louis Bertrand's Church Debt and Building Fund will be made in Bertrand Hall next Thursday evening.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Late News That Will Interest
Members Here and Elsewhere.

Omaha Council invested $500 in Liberty bonds.

Connecticut increased its membership 1,189 last year.

The Kansas State convention is being held today at St. Mary's.

The membership of Massachusetts is now 34,961, a net gain over last year of 2,146.

Newport Council will supply the Catholic schools of Campbell county with large American flags.

Fifty-eight candidates received the degrees at an initiation last week at Menominee, Wis.

The council at Garrett City, Ind., has a membership of about 150.

This is a fine showing for that small town.

Nebraska Knights have begun preparations for a fourth degree exemplification at Omaha on October 11.

Vermont Knights have voted $500 toward furnishing literature and other comforts for that State's soldiers.

The order in Perry, Iowa, has been given a decided impetus by an all-day meeting and initiation of fifty-one candidates.

Norwood Council, Cincinnati, has been authorized to organize a home guard company, composed entirely of Knights of Columbus.

The entertainment given the soldiers at Fort Benjamin Harrison by the Knights of Indianapolis last Saturday was a great success.

Major degrees were exemplified during the past thirty days for large classes at Green Bay, Janesville, New London and Neenah, Wis.

Admiral Dewey, Commodore Barry, Brooklyn and Carroll Councils had a big third degree exemplification last Sunday at Coney Island.

Should Have Priest.

If there are as many as 300 Catholic soldiers at the Lexington mobilization camp a Catholic priest will be detailed to the camp, Bishop Ferdinand Brossart, of the Covington diocese, has announced. Bishop Brossart visited the camp last week and asked the company commanders to ascertain how many of the men are Catholics.

Knights Give Million.

From the headquarters at New Haven, Conn., comes the information that the Supreme Board of Directors of the Knights of Columbus has announced the appropriation of $1,000,000 by the order for the establishment and maintenance of recreation centers at all the principal army concentration camps. This action, it is stated, is the result of a general appeal from members throughout the country urging that the work inaugurated along the Mexican border last year be continued and enlarged to meet present conditions.

Kansas City Today.

The Colonels open up with Shylack George Tebeau's Kansas City team today, beginning a series of three games, and from there go to St. Paul for two games, thence to Minneapolis, where they will play three games. If Cantillon has nine men to put on the field, having in the past week been compelled to put an outfielder in to pitch because of a short squad of players. The local fans are more than pleased over the showing of Clymer's club on the road, the four straight defeats of Indianapolis being an appetizing morsel, as it makes the pennant race again interesting. When the club comes home it should be the duty of every fan to show appreciation of Owner Wathen's sportsmanship by crowding the park at every game.
